Bay council rejects wastewater district's proposal in sewerage services conflict

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay St. Louis City Council voted Tuesday to reject a proposal to provide temporary sewerage services to a planned subdivision on Blue Meadow Road.

The council had previously sought to provide services to the proposed subdivision but the Waveland Regional Wastewater District Authority denied permission for the city to provide sewerage services outside the city limits unless it agreed to turn the customers over to the county sewer district presently being formed in the area.

Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz Jr. told the council accepting the proposal would be a bad precedent for the city.

Councilman John Wilkerson said he just can't see giving up customers after the city has begun providing services to them.

It would be saying the city is not going to try and expand sewerage services any more and the system would be locked out of any growth, Frankiewicz added.

A system keeps customer costs down by expanding and this system was designed to take on outside growth, Frankiewicz said.

"Even if the proposal was accepted, since the system was turned over to the county, we would still be paying for the system," he said. "Through the stations, flow lines and covered in the city's portion of the wastewater that would be treated in the Waveland plant," he said.

The county district would only want to pay a nominal fee for pumping the sewage through the lines, Frankiewicz added.

"This would be unfair to city customers who are paying the full bill for services while county customers would be paying only a fraction of the cost and get benefit of full sewerage services," he stated.

Councilman James Thriftley believes county customers would not only have to pay full cost of the services but also a 50 percent surcharge.

"We have an ordinance that requires anyone receiving city services and living outside the city limits to pay the 50 percent surcharge," he added.

Following a lengthy discussion, the council considered taking no action on the proposal but Council Attorney Robert Genin advised the council to take a stand.

"It is time to tell the wastewater district they can draw all the lines they want to but if the sewage comes through Bay St. Louis lines, they are the city's customers," Genin said.

Councilman Lisa Coward voted against rejecting the proposal stating she would like to wait until after a April 14 hearing on the planned sewer district.

Also at the meeting, the council voted to accept a $159,200 contract from Layne-Central Company for construction of a new water well with the capacity to pump 1,000 gallons a minute.

The city also received a bid of $143,400 on a well with a 750 gallons per minute capacity, but John Campton of Garner Russell and Associates, engineers for the project, recommended the large well.

"We note the large bid of $159,200 compares to $188.20 per gallon per minute well capacity, while the alternate bid would be $191.20 per gallon per minute," Campton said.

"Although the smaller well will adequately meet the city's immediate needs, it is obvious the large well is a better value," he added.

Frankiewicz said $150,000 had been budgeted for construction of the new well but he believed an additional $9,200 could be added if necessary.

The new well will be constructed on the foot Street right of way in the annexed area and will play a major part in providing fire protection services to surrounding residents.

Echo staff changes told

In newspaper position changes on April 8, Gail R. Ridout has been named general manager of The Sea Coast Echo by Ellis Coover, editor and publisher.

Ridout, 38, of J. Randy Ponder, who has been promoted to editor and publisher of a sister paper, The Mobile County News, Bayou LaBatre, Alabama, a weekly publication with a printing plant.

Ridout was the business and purchasing agent for the Echo and the Mobile County News.

She will also serve as general manager of The Sea County Enterprise, owned by Bay St. Louis Newspapers, Inc., publishers of The Sea Coast Echo.

Ridout and her daughter Brooke reside in Bay St. Louis. Her daughter is a student at St. Clare School in Waveland.

The new general manager commented, "I am excited to be working at The Sea Coast Echo and Stone County Enterprise."

"I have heard so many good things about living and working in South Mississippi, that I am looking forward to meeting many of the fine residents of Hancock and Stone Counties," Ridout added.

Coover stated, "We are also pleased with the promotion of Ponder as editor and publisher of The Mobile County News. He has worked very hard at The Sea Coast Echo and The Stone County Enterprise and really deserves this opportunity."

Ponder started at the Echo in 1973 as a pressman and was promoted to general manager in 1976. He was named general manager of the Stone County Enterprise in 1981.

Ponder's family will move from Waveland to the Bayou LaBatre area where school closes for this session.

New harbor director reports major goals

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Major goals of the new Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission director are to do whatever possible to help area businesses get more government contracts and bring industry to the area.

According to the new director Harold (Bud) Olsen, the government is expected to spend $3 billion in Mississippi this year and most of it will go to out-of-state contractors.

Olsen says he will be working with the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center to help provide the information to small business to get the government contracts.

"To get this type of contract it doesn't generally take a lot of dollar investment, just time," he said.

Olsen serves on the center's board of directors and was one of the founders of the organization which has helped coastal industries in procuring contracts valued at $5.2 million since August 1986.

Hancock County has a lot to say for itself in encouraging new business, especially the almost unlimited high technology resources, he added.

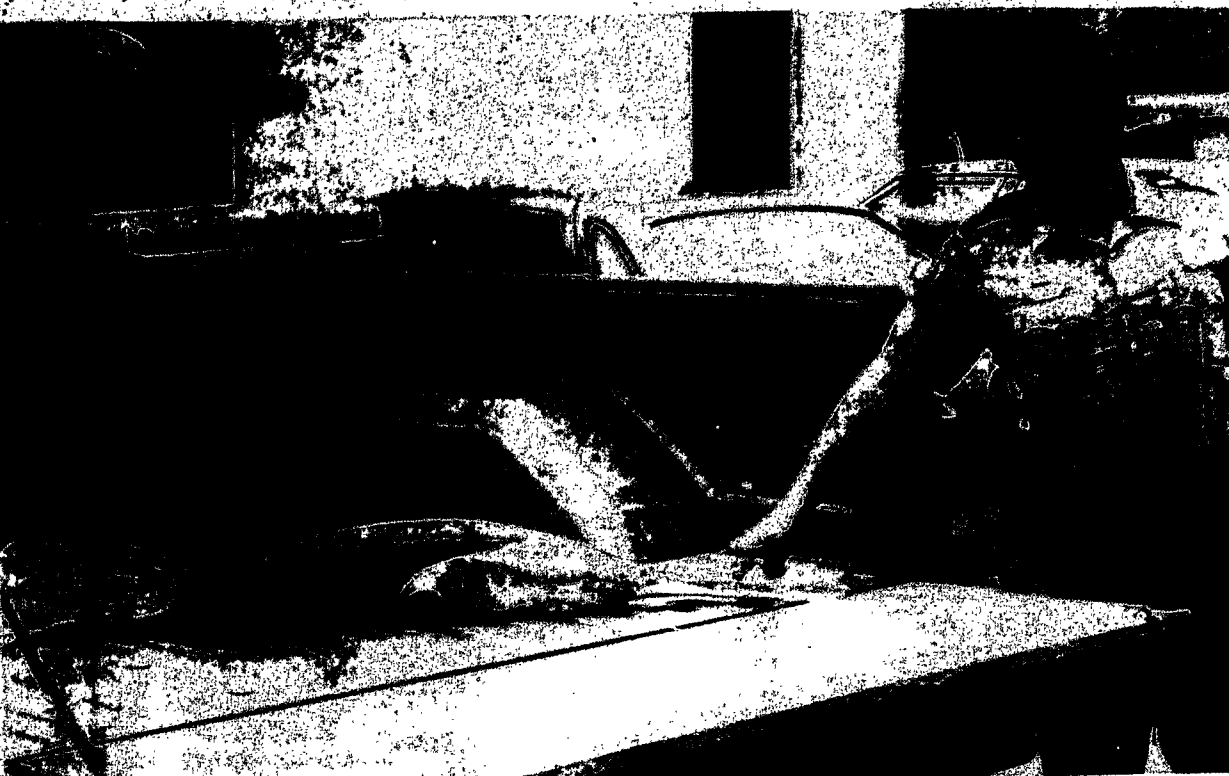

Olsen said he had basically spent his time so far getting to know existing industries.

"People I have met so far have been very nice and receptive to me," he said.

"It has been so good to be able to come into a place where people make you feel at home right away," Olsen said.

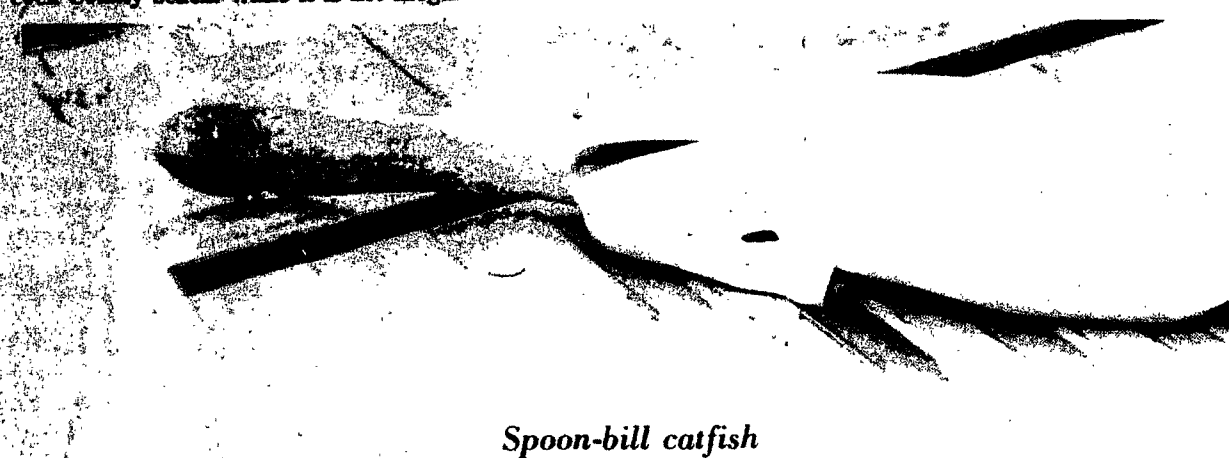

"This job is just the kind I have been looking for, with lots of potential for helping the community," he added.

Olsen said he particularly likes

Supervisors criticized for favors, fighting against unit system

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has again been criticized on its operation of the county unit system, as well as for alleged "special favors" on a Garden Isles road.

Alice Dugger, a resident of Dolphin Circle in Beat Five, addressed the board Monday to complain about an alleged situation she feels "has led a neighbor to believe the road belongs to him."

Niel Nielson of Cedar Point alleged that the majority of the board of supervisors is working for failure of the unit system.

Dugger said that Wednesday morning a county road crew including graders and dump trucks showed up to work on part of the circle, which has only four occupied houses.

She stated that she considered the road to be "in pretty good shape" before the grading was done.

"It was nice to have the road graded but there are a lot of other roads all over the county in worse shape," Dugger said.

She added that one particular neighbor had been attempting to have the county work on the road since November and alleged that the individual had received "special favors" before, including previous road work, a load of garden topsoil delivered in a Hancock County truck, and removal of ducks that were taken away in Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca's truck.

She said the individual has placed shells on a section of road and is now trying to get other residents to let him shell the rest of the road, but refuses to allow parking on the presently shelled section.

"He runs out there and acts like it's a private road," she explained.

Board Attorney Gerald Gex agreed to write a letter to Mrs. Dugger's neighbor to explain that any surface material placed on a public road becomes county property.

Travirca said he did remove the ducks from the road at the man's request and released them in a pond behind his own residence, but denied having done favors for Dugger's neighbor.

Nielson, who had addressed the board several times before the unit system was favored by voters in a June 3 referendum, spent nearly one hour questioning the supervisors.

Nielson said his reading of newspaper articles regarding the unit system has indicated that the majority of the board is "putting more energy into trying to defeat the unit system than into making it succeed."

"What you read in the papers is not the bible," said Board President and Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Kellar, referring specifically to allegations that his crew reported to him rather than County Maintenance Superintendent Bill

Variances, subdivision, trailer move approved

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board has recommended approval of two yard variances and a second phase of an existing subdivision, while the Waveland Board of Aldermen has granted a city resident temporary permission to move a trailer to make way for permanent construction.

The zoning board met Monday and agreed to recommend the plans for the second phase of Lakewood Subdivision for approval by the board of aldermen.

Lakewood II Subdivision is located behind Lakewood I, off Central Avenue.

Side yard variances were approved for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gambino, who want to add an attached shed to their Bourgeois Street residence, and Mrs. Lawrence Fischer, who wants to add a carport to her home on Longo Street.

The aldermen approved all three recommendations on Tuesday.

Also on Tuesday, the aldermen agreed to allow Clifton LaFontaine, who owns property on the corner of Faith and Henderson Streets, to move his trailer about 25 feet within the boundaries of his own property.
LaFontaine said he wants to build a permanent residence and needs to move the trailer to make room for construction. He plans to sell the trailer and remove it from the property.

Outside specifically zoned trailer parks, trailers in Waveland are allowed only under a grandfather clause.

According to Lucien Gex, who serves as attorney for both boards, moving a trailer causes loss of the grandfather status and the mobile home becomes illegal.

Wildfire damages 250 acres

BY DENA BISNETTE
At least $4,000 in damages have resulted from a wildfire Tuesday that covered about 250 acres in the Foston area and destroyed one house.

According to Mississippi Forestry Commission's Mark Jamieson, the fire started Tuesday at a small campsite on a road and spread southeast to Foston Road.

A small creek branch stopped the spread of flames on the east side of the blaze and prevented it from spreading into the Delta area, Jamieson said.

Two forestry commission crews were fighting smaller wood fires when the blaze was spotted from the Kiln firetower at about 2:30 p.m., and it was more than an hour before the crews could work on the blaze, he added.

He said the tower received calls on the two smaller fires but no one called about the large one.
"This one got huge and not one person ever called about it. I saw it,"

Jamieson said.

Problems that occurred while fighting the fire, including a truck that got stuck and a tractor that would not start, delayed the fire crew until after 9:45 p.m.

Jamieson said most of the timber destroyed was young plantation belonging to Greenham Industries and International Paper.

He estimated that at least 300 acres will have to be replanted. Planting alone costs about $40 per acre.

Anyone who may have seen the fire set can call the tower at 265-7152, Jamieson said.

Registration for tee ball, minor league scheduled

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission will conduct registration for tee ball and minor league teams this weekend.

Commission Director Frank Pernicaro said registration is open to all boys and girls ages five through eight.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday.

A $5 fee is required per child for registration but there is a $10 limit per family regardless of the number of children registering.

Last year there were four tee ball teams and four minor league teams with more than 125 youth participating in the program, Pernicaro said.

"It has grown more and more every year, increasing from 60 to 125 youth in only three years," he added.

Pernicaro expects at least 140 youth to participate this season and anticipates extra teams will be added to the league.

Opening day for the program will be May 30.

Senator offers pay raise as junior college scholarships

Senator Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis reports that he is making available $500 scholarships for students from his senate district who plan to attend a junior college.

Taylor, who represents portions of Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson Counties, said that one scholarship would be awarded in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area, one in Hancock County, one in Harrison County, and one in the Ocean Springs-St. Martin area.

He said that any A or B high school student in those areas who plans to enroll in a junior college this fall is eligible to apply and should contact his or her guidance counselor for information.

"When the Legislature passed the pay raise for its members in 1985, I said that I would vote against the bill, which I did, but if it passed, I would give the money to education. I am following through on that pledge and I hope that these scholarships will benefit some well-deserving students to further their education," Taylor said.

Juveniles charged in purse snatching

By DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis Police officers have arrested two juveniles in connection with a Saturday purse snatching and an adult male in connection with a Monday morning burglary.

In the burglary case, John R. LeMay, 231 Sycamore, Bay St. Louis, was arrested inside a Washington Street residence at about 9 a.m. after a neighbor notified police, Bay Police Detective Chuck James said.

The owner was not home at the time, he said. The suspect had apparently entered the house at about 1:30 a.m.

The arresting officers, Don Osco and Roy Shubert, found LeMay hiding in a bathroom of the house, the detective added.

LeMay was charged with burglary and bond was set at $5,000.

The two juveniles were turned over to Hancock County Youth Court officials Tuesday in connection with a 3:45 p.m. purse snatching at Jitney Jungle in Marketown Shopping Center.

About $151 was taken, James stated. The two juveniles are being charged with grand larceny.

James added that witnesses to the incident assisted in the case by providing information.

I wish Randy Ponder luck with his promotion as editor and publisher of the Mobile County News in Bayou La Batre, Ala.

I have worked very closely with Randy since his arrival in Hancock County some 14 years ago as a pressman at the Echo.

Randy did a fine job at the Echo as a pressman and later assisting me as general manager, and of course, I will miss him.

Randy's wife Sherry and their children will be joining him in Bayou La Batre after school closes, so he will be doing some commuting for several months.

At this time I would like to welcome Gail R. Ridout of Hopewell, Va. to the staff of the Echo as general manager.

I have known Gail for several years and she has vast knowledge and experience in the newspaper industry, and I am sure she will be a big asset to our communities.

Gail and her daughter Brooke reside in Bay St. Louis. Brooke attends St. Clare School in Waveland.

Guided tours of the Hancock Medical Center are available Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This is a good time for residents of the area to visit our new hospital.

As many of you know, a new hospital in Hancock County was many years in coming and we now have a facility of which everyone can be very proud.

There just isn't any comparison to our old hospital which served us so well for some 25 years. Room in the new hospital is where there are really big improvements over the old facility.

No appointments are necessary for the general public to receive a guided tour of the new facility from now through National Hospital Week which is celebrated May 10-16.

Tours for school groups are available by calling 467-9081, extension 2243.

We hope everyone will take this opportunity of visiting our new hospital.

Mississippi Reporting Service's Legislative Update

By Kevin Jones

After spending a Sunday afternoon funding more than 100 appropriations bills, the 1987 session of the Mississippi legislature ground to a slow, quiet halt last week.

It was the first time in several years that lawmakers didn't need extra days to wind up their business.

The bills approved Sunday added up to a $1,606,771,982 general fund budget, with only a $1 million cushion, an amount that House Appropriations Chairman Ed Perry of Oxford termed "really down to zero, given the size of the budget."

The largest single appropriations was a $62.3 million allocation for public schools, and another big ticket item guaranteed state employees at least a $900 a year raise.

House Speaker C. B. "Buddie" Newman dropped the other shoe when he announced that he would retire from the legislature. The 66-year-old House veteran said the decision was made partly as a result of rules changes enacted this session that weakened his power and spread it to a larger group of legislators.

"As you know, I don't like the rules changes that were made," Newman said last week. "I think it's best for me to step aside."

The House reduced a $76 million Senate plan to build 2,000 new prison beds to a $56.6 million bond authorization to construct facilities for 1,000 more inmates at Parchman State Penitentiary and 500 spaces in a Green County medium security facility.

Both House and Senate voted overwhelmingly to remove the La Batre trustee from the state college board last week. Added to the board to care for a trust left for the Oxford school by Felix La Batre of DeSoto County, the La Batre trustee was only eligible to vote on matters involving Ole Miss.

A farm reform bill, which included a provision for voluntary mediation of disputes between lenders and financially-troubled farmers was passed by the House. Also included was a $10 million state bond issue to support "emerging crops," such as muscadines, blueberries and Christmas trees, and $50,000 in loan interest to farmers producing targeted crops.

In other matters, the House voted to expand Medicaid coverage to pregnant women below the poverty level. Previously, recipients had to be at 50 percent below the poverty level. Additionally, the number of Medicaid-funded hospital days for children doubled to 30 per year.

The fireworks came early in the just-concluded session. The passage of a massive, $1.6 billion highway construction program nearly a month ago was the last major action.

Despite more than a year of work by a blue-ribbon panel, a plan to rewrite the state constitution died this year, as did a proposal to raise the state income tax.

Teary-eyed farewells by retiring legislators filled much of Friday's final day of action as their fellow lawmakers gave the retirees standing ovations. By early afternoon, the Capitol's marble halls were empty for the first time since January as senators and representatives left to go home and prepare for their own re-election campaigns this summer.

BILLS IN THE HOUSE

SB 3635 would finance adding facilities for 1,500 more prisoners in the state corrections system. The $56.6 million bond authorization would pay for 1,000 new maximum security beds at the state penitentiary at Parchman and 500 medium security spaces in Greene County. The measure, which passed the Senate unanimously, won House passage 102-17.

Phillips, Yea; Holston, Yea.

SB 2444, known as the farm reform bill, includes the first program of its kind in the state's voluntary mediation program in which Department of Agriculture mediators would help restructure debts of jeopardized farmers. It also allows up to a $10 million state bond issue to support "emerging crops" farmers. The state could pay up to $30,000 in loan interest to farmers involved in targeted crops. It passed 93-19.

Phillips, Yea; Holston, Yea.

BILLS IN THE SENATE

HB 1666 would establish a voluntary sex education program for seventh and eighth grades. The School Nurse Intervention Program authorizes the hiring of nurses to counsel students about reproduction.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

A post-election study of U.S. Rep. Mike Espy's upset victory over incumbent Webb Franklin dispels the theory that Espy's victory was largely attributable to some 20,000 white voters staying home on election day.

The analysis of election results from 311 precincts, conducted by the Voter Education Project of Atlanta, reveals that black voters stayed at home in almost equal numbers to whites.

What the study reveals is that Espy, the scholarly young black attorney from Yazoo City, drew about 5 percent more white votes in the 1986 election than did State Rep. Robert Clark of Ebenezer in Clark's narrow losses to Franklin in 1984 and 1982. These evidently were the key to Espy's victory.

Also, the VEP analysis indicates, Espy picked up slightly more blacks than did Clark, disproving previous theories that it was necessary to have a higher proportion of black voters in the district in order for a black to win.

District-wide, only 42 percent of the estimated 336,000 registered voters cast ballots, some 39,000 fewer total votes than cast in 1984, a presidential year. While 20,000 of those were white, 19,000 were black, according to the VEP study.

The VEP study of the 311 precincts gave Espy 12 percent of the white vote overall—substantially higher in some counties—as compared to 7 percent of the white vote Clark, the veteran state lawmaker, received in 1984.

Espy picked up 95 percent of the black vote, according to the VEP study, 1 percent more than Clark's black vote two years earlier.

In several predominantly white precincts in his home county of Yazoo, Espy came up with significantly high percentages of the white vote. In precinct 2, for instance, the study showed he generated 49.6 percent of the white vote, and in Zion precinct, he received 47 percent of the white vote.

In Calkin precinct in Warren county with only 3 percent black voting age population, which had been specifically targeted by the Espy campaign, he came out with 22.3 percent of the white vote, the analysis showed.

In sum, the analysis seems to discount the theory of some doom-sayers that Espy's victory was a one-time phenomenon based on white voter apathy as a result of the backlash to Reagan administration farm programs, and that next time the white voters will come back and put Espy out of office.

His staff, citing the Calkin precinct in Warren county contend it is symbolic that Espy, as a bright, hard-working young professional could win white voters.

After three months in office, Espy has apparently done even more winning-over of his white constituency by his sincerity and devotion to his job of helping his district with its myriad economic problems.

In fact, this writer, on a recent visit to Espy's Washington office observed within a one-hour period a half-dozen or more white constituents calling at his office to talk with the congressman or his staff.

As one remarked, "I'm glad to know we've got somebody who really listens to us." That has been one of Espy's strong points—the ability to listen and learn quickly the nature of a problem.

When the recent flash floods at Vicksburg reopened an old flooding sore in that river community, Espy was quick to go down to the city and get a first-hand look to find out if he could help. As it turned out, the request for disaster relief for the city was tied up in the Atlanta office, and Espy immediately began putting heat on the office to get it dislodged.

"He (Espy) has come back to the district much quicker than I thought he could or would," said a pleased Mayor Emdery Grubbs of Vicksburg. "And he has shown a willingness to fight the system, which is a big plus for us."

Last week, Espy along with Sen. John Stennis hosted a luncheon in Washington featuring Mississippi catfish produced in Espy's district, geared to convince the military establishment to put catfish on the menu in military installations throughout the world. At the luncheon were top Congressional defense leaders, fiscal leaders and cabinet officials.

Ironically, who has been hired as a lobbyist for the catfish industry? None other than Webb Franklin, whom Espy defeated. Espy said, however, the luncheon was his own idea and he had no contact with Franklin about it.

Espy also scored a coup recently in the House Budget Committee by putting down a move by urban Congressmen to whack $3 to $4 billion out of farm subsidies, something his district desperately needs. As the only black member of the House from a rural, agricultural district, he was able to sell the city guys on a compromise that recouped almost $2 billion for farm subsidies.

Espy, the first black from Mississippi to sit in Congress since 1853, seems to be doing what he does best—working hard, but quietly—and it appears he is paying off.

Parent participation discouraged by soccer league officials

Editor:
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

A kick in the shin—I think it is outrageous and a bad thing for the future of soccer, the way the HAVS soccer league is being run.

The parents vote on the officers at the beginning of the soccer league, but they do not have any input on anything after that. The meetings should be published so parents can be involved.

The sport is supposed to be competitive and for the children, not for the coaches who win the most games. The way it is now, one team dominates the other three teams, and next year it will be the same way.

At the beginning of this season some of the parents and myself picked the winners of the league for this year and the next. Now nothing is on the up and up when the winners can be seen that far ahead.

The future for the next couple of years does not look any better. It is now if something isn't done.

Sir:
Like so many people in this area, I am painfully aware of the high rate of unemployment and I am sure that when a job is advertised, many applications are received.

However, I am greatly saddened by the total lack of manners and consideration on the part of the companies and individuals who send out the word that they have a vacancy in their office, or wherever.

When a vacancy is advertised and a request that a resume be submitted, I have complied immediately. Out of many resumes I have sent, I have yet to receive the courtesy of a reply informing me that the position has been filled.

This also applies to interviews I have had where I have been told that I would "hear from them, one way or the other by such and such a time."

In this connection, I have received only two calls saying that the position has been filled.

It is extremely hard on individuals who apply for jobs and wait anxiously for a phone call, only to get silence. Surely it isn't asking too much that job applicants be extended the courtesy of some form of acknowledgement.

THE FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM WILL BE IN GOOD HANDS

What are the advantages of competition in the American free enterprise system?

Another question—the production of goods and services requires three types of resources. Can you name them?

Or, when people spend their money faster than goods and services can be produced, what is the usual result?

If you can answer these questions, you may be as knowledgeable about the American free enterprise system as are about five hundred Mississippi high school students who just spent a day as participants in the second annual Mississippi Free Enterprise Games.

The Games, sponsored by the American Enterprise Center of the Mississippi Economic Council and Chevron, are designed to encourage students in their search for knowledge and information about the free enterprise system, to create competition among students and schools, and to recognize those who excel in knowledge and information.

High school juniors and seniors from more than 90 schools took part in South Mississippi and North Mississippi competition and the two winners—Collins High School in the South and Bogalusa High School in the North—will compete for the state title at the Annual Membership Meeting of the Council in Jackson on April 3.

Based on performance of all students and schools in this competition, winners can take pride in the knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the free enterprise system displayed by our students.

By the way—answers to the above questions: Advantages of competition are lower prices and greater choices of goods and services; resources for production of goods include human resources, natural resources, and capital resources; and when people spend their money faster than goods can be produced, the result is inflation.

Newman accomplishments legion during 40 years in legislature

JACKSON—For the first time in 40 years, Biddle Newman will not be among those taking the oath of office when the Mississippi Legislature convenes in January of 1988.

Newman announced he will not seek re-election this year.

A member of the Legislature since 1948, C.B. "Buddie" Newman of Valley Park has served as permanent Speaker of the House of Representatives for the past 12 years and was Acting Speaker in 1974 and 1975.

His record as a state legislator and long list of accomplishments in the legislative branch of government is unparalleled in modern state history. The only one man who ever served longer in the Legislature and served more years as Speaker was the late Walter Sillers.

Newman, who served for several years with Sillers, said he truly remembers the early days of his own legislative career. He said he sought out the wisdom of Sillers' advice in those early years.

"He told me to stay in the best for the state of Mississippi and that is what I have tried to do during my legislative service," Newman said.

Newman, 68, indicated earlier he would not be a candidate for Speaker in 1988. In the event he returned to the House, although he believed he could be re-elected to the position.

Newman issued the following statement regarding his decision not to run for another term in the Legislature:

"We are fortunate in Mississippi to have a strong, independent Legislature consisting of some of the finest men and women in our state. It has been a distinct honor to have been part of the Legislature for these past 40 years, and to have had an opportunity to serve in a leadership capacity as our state has moved to build a nationally recognized business climate and advanced steadily toward fulfilling its rich potential."

"We all reach a moment, however, when we must make that difficult choice between continuing to serve or stepping aside. Two years ago it was my intention to run again in 1987 but time and circumstances have changed, and I have concluded that the moment for Buddie Newman to step aside has arrived. I will not be a candidate for re-election."

"Speaker Walter Sillers and Speaker John Jenkins gave me wonderful opportunities to serve in key positions and learn the legislative process, and I shall always be grateful to these outstanding statemen for their confidence in me."

"Allow me to extend my deep appreciation to all of those with whom I have been privileged to serve, and to express sincere gratitude to the good people of my district who have chosen me to represent them and to the many friends who urged me to run again this year. You will forever be in my heart."

Born May 8, 1921 at Valley Park, Newman served one term in the State Senate beginning in 1948 then switched to the House of Representatives where he has served continuously since 1952. He was chairman of the Influential Ways and Means Committee from 1964 through 1975, earning a reputation as one of the state's most knowledgeable and responsible fiscal leaders.

Newman has been described by legislative colleagues as a leader and a builder and a "man who has done more to destroy sectionalism in Mississippi" than any other lawmaker. The late Representative A.C. (Butch) Lambert said of Newman, "His address is Mississippi."

His legislative district includes Isaacson and Sharkey Counties and a portion of Warren County and, in past years, he represented Washington County.

Newman has taken an active part in virtually every significant agricultural, industrial and commercial development program in Mississippi during modern times, and has long been a leader in efforts to improve the state's educational system at all levels.

He appointed a special House Committee in 1962 which developed the landmark legislation that became the Education Reform Act in December of that year. He voted for the Act and publicly commended the Legislature for its passage.

Newman was a member of the State Commission on Budget and Accounting from 1964 until it was abolished in July 1984. He was a member of the Mississippi Board of Economic Development and its predecessor, the Agricultural and Industrial Board, from 1960 to July 1984. He is a member of the Joint Legislative Budget Committee, presently serving his second term as chairman.

He worked tirelessly on such major economic development projects as the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, Standard Oil Refinery in Jackson County, the Navy home port at Pascagoula, Litton Shipyards, Boeing Aircraft plant in Greenville, development of coastal and river ports, and other vital industries in Warren County and throughout Mississippi.

He was among the authors of such far-reaching legislation as the Industrial Revenue Bond Act and bills to create the Mississippi marketing Council and Mississippi Research and Development Center, to upgrade the state's Vocational and Technical Training Program, provide loans to industry for training Mississippi workers, and promote agricultural research.

Especially active in the Far East trade arena, Newman has used his personal contacts and knowledge of the area to benefit Mississippi agriculture, business and industry.

He has been deeply involved in flood control efforts in the Delta, working closely with local, state and federal authorities. Newman served as coordinator of flood relief in the south Delta during the devastating floods that hit the area in the spring of 1973.

Newman has served as both chairman and vice chairman of the Southern Legislative Conference of the Council of State Governments, and is a past chairman of the Southern Speakers Conference. He was named last year to the board of directors of the State Legislative Leaders Foundation, a national Newman was among the first legislative leaders in America to be chosen by the National Conference of State Legislatures for a special NCSL Leadership Award in 1965.

GAMES FOR APRIL

We will be having our white elephant games parties on the 2nd and 4th Fridays this month, 10th and 24th (April 10 and 24). Bring a white elephant and get an extra card. 25 cents donation requested.

SENIOR CENTER WEEK

May 10-16 is Senior Center Week. We will be having a big fish fry at Buccanier park on Wednesday, May 13. Big John Rutherford and his gang, K.C. Mitchell and the Silver Creek Catfish gang plus our staff and volunteers will be serving.

Because of our cuts, we will have to charge a minimum fee for tickets this year. We think if you will pay $2 each, we can use the money we made at our bazaar and on our raffles to make up the difference. Buy your ticket in advance from Rosine Jushaway in our office.

We know that we will be getting donations for prizes and some of our food, so help us celebrate the 15 years we have been open and started all of the senior citizens programs! It has been lots of fun and some hard work, but Rosine Jushaway and I have lasted the whole time!

DJ-BROTHER CANISIUS

Tuesday mornings we are really enjoying the music our DJ, Brother Canisius, brings us. He has taken the time to make such interesting tapes of music that we all enjoy - not a single rock and roll in the bunch!

Next Tuesday will be gospel singing with a variety of artists including Kate Smith.

Come and join us in the lounge area at 10:30 a.m. every Tuesday.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

The National Council on Aging met in Chicago last week and I attended as the Mississippi delegate to the National Institute of Senior Centers. I was elected to this office this year, so you will be hearing more about the issues concerning senior centers.

The big issue right now is that Congress is working on the Older American Act bill that funds senior centers and our meals programs and senior employment.

This is the only funding source for senior centers and social programs for the well older person. We do not think the funds should be taken from this source to fund other programs.

We feel that well senior citizens have a right to have at least one place to come for companionship, information, meals and assistance. We don't want to take anything away from anyone else, just please - don't take the little we have.

This center, for instance, is the only place many of our senior citizens have to come to. Who else can pick them up and take them to their errands, give them a meal, and some peer companionship? Many of our participants couldn't leave their homes if they didn't have it. It's the way all over the country. We think our centers are important!

Next article will be about some of the health bills. You won't believe what some politicians want! Long-term care for themselves (nursing home insurance), and not for the rest of us!

Cannon announces district attorney candidacy for coastal counties

Gulfport attorney Glenn Cannon has announced his candidacy for District Attorney for Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties.

His statement follows:

"I wish to announce my candidacy for election to the office of District Attorney for Harrison, Hancock, and Stone Counties. I am married and have two children. My wife, the former Misses Toombs, is a resident of Stone County. I have two children, a son, Glenn, and a daughter, Jennifer. I am a member of the First Baptist Church of Gulfport, an ordained deacon, and teach Sunday School in the Junior High Department.

"Presently I am a practicing attorney in the City of Gulfport. I am a member of the National District Attorneys Association, American Bar Association, American Trial Lawyers Association, Federal Bar Association, Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association, Mississippi State Bar Association and Harrison County Bar Association.

"I have served as City Prosecutor for the City of Gulfport for the last 21 months. I am a former Assistant District Attorney for the Second Circuit Court District of Mississippi, consisting of Harrison, Hancock, and Stone Counties. I also served as general counsel to Minority Whip, Congressman Trent Lott, United States House of Representatives.

"I am seeking this office because of my deep commitment to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. It's my belief that if we are to maintain an environment that allows for the continued progress of our area we need strong, consistent enforcement of the laws that govern our society. To accomplish this, this District needs aggressive leadership in the District Attorney's office. We need a District Attorney who is willing to provide firm and fair prosecution while insuring that the rights of the victim are clearly protected.

"I received several honors as an athlete, including being selected as an All American. I served as president of the 'M' Club, captain of the football team and was selected for many athletic honors, including the Leadership Award, Mr. Defense Award, and the Outstanding Senior Award.

"I was honored on Feb. 4, 1970 when the Mississippi House of Representatives and the Mississippi Senate in conjunction with the Harrison County Board of Supervisors and the City of Gulfport declared that day as 'Glenn Cannon Day' for my representation of the City of Gulfport, the Gulf Coast, and the State of Mississippi.

"Following the Senior Bowl Football Classic, I was drafted and signed a contract with the New Orleans Saints Professional Football Team.

"I am very much interested in the community in which I live and have participated in many civic activities. I presently serve on the State Board of Directors for the Special Olympics, Inc. and as legal advisor for Area Three, Special Olympics.

"I hold memberships in the Gulfport Rotary Club and Civitan International. I am past president of the Gulfport Bayou View Dixie Youth Baseball League, Inc. and serve as vice president of the Community Relations Council for the Gulfport Job Corps. I have received the distinguished Service Award from the Harrison County United Way and the Gulfport Job Corps and am listed in Outstanding Young Men of America. I am a member of the First Baptist Church of Gulfport, an ordained deacon, and teach Sunday School in the Junior High Department.

It's my belief that if we are to maintain an environment that allows for the continued progress of our area we need strong, consistent enforcement of the laws that govern our society. To accomplish this, this District needs aggressive leadership in the District Attorney's office. We need a District Attorney who is willing to provide firm and fair prosecution while insuring that the rights of the victim are clearly protected.

"Wild America" explores a funny, bizarre and sometimes violent world at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, April 9, on Mississippi ETV, when it presents the film "Hog Wild."

Many thousands of these intelligent creatures roam the southern woods, coastlands and mountains. Some, bristling boars with huge tusks, were imported from Europe and released as formidable hunting adversaries.

Dynamite wins fourth consecutive district title

Dynamite, the Bay Area Youth Soccer Girls Under-14 Team, has won the District Championship for the fourth year in a row.

In both district games, against Ocean Springs and Gulfport, Whitney White assisted Kim Weinstein who scored one goal in each game making the winning scores 1-0. "We dominated both games," stated Coach Kathy Edwards,

"allowing only one serious attack on goal in both games. We will be concentrating on our offensive attack in preparation for the State Championships. The ball needs to go into the goal more often."

As a result of outstanding play against Gulfport, Rachel Fillingame was invited by Coach Ed Croal to try out for Mississippi's Junior Olympic Team next fall in Hattiesburg.

Prior to district competition, Dynamite also placed first in division during the Great Day of Soccer competition in Gulfport. Winning individual awards were Jennifer Carter, ninth place; Stacey Feuerstein, seventh place; Carolyn Watts, fifth place; Kirsty Heitzmann, third place; Whitney White, second place; and Day Hays, first place.

Knights felled in triple overtime

In the opening game of the Southern District Tournament, Bernard Construction Knights (16-2-2) defeated Ocean Springs No. 2, The Force, by a score of 4-0.

Scoring for the Knights were Michael Perniciaro and Scott Pepperman.

Sunday's game was against South Mississippi Soccer No. 2.

Scoring for the Knights were Danny Harvill and Scott Pepperman. Final score of the game was 3-0.

The game for District Champion was played Monday night against SMSC No. 1, Kicking Machine.

After 90 minutes of hard play the score was 0 to 0.

A five minute overtime was played with still no score.

A five man shoot-out was held with each team alternating shots at which time each team scored three points.

The second five man shoot-out was sudden death at which time the winning kick was made by SMSC No. 1.

Lead by the defensive fullbacks, Scott Emmel, Beau Schindler, Bert Courrage, and Keeper, Brett Ladner, the Knights remained unscored upon in regulation games during the tournament.

With the help of Richard Watson, Chris Russ, Bobby Williams, Richard Oliver and Michael Benvenuti, as halfbacks and supported by a forward line of Scott Pepperman, Danny Harvill, Steven Sones, Michael Perniciaro, Rodney Oliver, Jimmy Williams and Austin Schmelzer.

The Bernard Construction Knights have had a successful season.

St. Jude Bass Classic entries remain open

There is only one month left before the entry deadline for area anglers to participate in the $40,000 St. Jude Open Bass Classic at Sardis Lake on May 24.

Yet, the 15th annual benefit for the St. Jude Children's Hospital is filling the 500 entry spaces at a rapid pace.

The St. Jude Classic this year will distribute more than $40,000 in prizes, $3,000 more than last year.

The grand prize, a fully rigged bass boat, will go to a fisherman, not on his ability to catch bass, but how lucky he is in getting his name pulled from a barrel containing all the names of the 500 contenders.

Natural Lite and Granger Select have donated over $18,000 in prize money and merchandise. Natural Lite will provide Bill Dance as Master of Ceremonies for the weigh in.

The fishermen catching the largest single bass will pick up a $500 award. Prizes will also be given to the top 50 finishers including a 14 ft. fishing boat, trailer and a 9.9 motor, lures, baron rods, depth finders, graphs, etc.

The entry fee this year, which amounts to a tax-free contribution to the hospital is $75. Entries must be mailed with check or money order to: St. Jude Open Bass Classic, P.O. Box 12404, Memphis, Tennessee 38182 postmarked no later than May 10, or hand delivered to the partner pairing at the Hungry Fisherman's Restaurant at 1600 Munson Road in Memphis by 6:30 p.m.

In Boys "A" Doubles, Marco Lau and Tom Cook beat Liwanian Long and Derek Walker 6-1, 6-0.

Monique LeBourgeois and Nicole Montagnet had a little trouble in defeating Apryl Barnes and Christina Wiggly 6-2, 6-0. To complete the "A" Team sweep, David Bourgeois and Kelly Kolodziej handled Teresa Beckett and Chris Pigott 6-1, 6-2.

In "B" Team action, winners were: Terry LeBourgeois in Boys Singles, Mike Cromwell and Pat Fellows in Boys Doubles, Shannon Maggio and Liz Haas in Girls Doubles, and Scott Comeaux and Cindy Pitolo in Mixed Doubles.

How to handle "tacklebox shock"

April is a month to pore through the Pro Bass Shops catalog that arrived in mid-February. This year's "Spring Fever '87" edition at 162 pages has more tackle, equipment, gizmos and gadgets than even Santa Claus could hope for! But you better watch out, or else you'll be a victim of the latest syndrome known as "tacklebox shock."

I used to eagerly look through each spring fishing catalog with delight. My eyes danced from page to page and the order form began to look like a Christmas or birthday wish list - but the bottom line looked like my weekly pay check!

Just after the prized new additions arrive by UPS - Ron, an avid bassman, didn't hesitate to chide me on the package - I started stripping the lures out of their protective covers and commenced on my cleaning routine. Then, the "shock" set in: which lures do I cast aside? Or should I just go buy a larger tacklebox?

Well, I've solved my syndrome much in the same way as the pros: I have various tackleboxes for various purposes. In this column, two of those pros share their tacklebox wisdom with us.

"Your tacklebox should be chosen just like everything else," explains Randy Fite, Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member. "It's based on how often you are going to use it. If you only go fishing occasionally, don't go overboard with the tackle because you can always add to it."

"I would start out with a moderately sized box and I wouldn't buy too much of any one thing," Fite instructs. "I would get a few top water baits, a few shallow running baits, and then a few deep divers. Stick with good basic colors, which are determined by the lakes you're going to be fishing. For off-color water choose chartreuse and whites; for clear water, the more natural finishes. Try to pick out some of the so-called favorites, the popular colors."

The plastic worm and my personal favorite, the jigging spoon, would have to be in there. And a person ought to have a half-dozen spinnerbaits in their tacklebox too.

"I use two different types of tackleboxes," explains Ken Cook, Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member. "One is kind of a box of all. It's a pretty good-sized box in which I have one of everything, except some plastic worms. I carry an extra box which is totally for plastic worms. I've got a third box that stays in my boat all the time because I've got everything from top water baits to deep divers to jigging spoons, Little Georges, a few spinnerbaits, jigs - a little bit of everything."

If I get out in a situation that I don't expect, I've got something that will do almost anything in that box. It's important to have a box of that nature."

"I also have a box of spinnerbaits that I carry in the boat most of the time. I have other specialized boxes: one in which I keep plastic worms that are small, four inches or so, and another box that's my 'not normal' plastic worm box where I have five inches or so, and I have still another one with eight-inch worms and up for my Florida trips."

As you can see, there isn't one formula for buying or stocking your tacklebox. But there is one rule of thumb: buy a tacklebox that fits your needs for fishing the way you do, one which handles the lures and equipment you use frequently. A subsidiary rule would be to keep all plastic baits like worms in a separate box in case of a breakdown of the plastic and the subsequent "oil spill" which could ruin other lures.

Have a question you'd like a bass pro to answer? Jot it down and mail it to "Bassin' with the Pros" at this newspaper. An answer to your question will appear in a future column.

Coast Guard consumers kit available to the public

Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Hanford Dole reports that in conjunction with National Consumers Week 1987, April 19 through 25, the Coast Guard is offering a "Consumers Kit" containing informative material detailing Coast Guard services and programs of interest to the boating public.

"Consumers have the right to expect quality and dependability when they make a purchase," Dole said. "This is especially true for the boating public. Finding yourself stranded on the water without help being readily available could be frightening or even life threatening. The Coast Guard, by offering this Consumers Kit, is attempting to outline for this group of consumers steps they may take to avoid this situation."

President Reagan in proclaiming National Consumers Week 1987, noted that this year's theme is "Consumers Celebrate the Constitution," in honor of the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution.

The foundation for the rights consumers enjoy in today's marketplace comes from the Constitution. Additionally, President Reagan and five presidents before him have endorsed a Consumers Bill of Rights that affirms consumers:

- The right to choose between products, services and supplies;
- The right to information concerning the products they purchase;
- The right to expect that products conform to reasonable safety standards;
- The right to be heard; and
- The right to consumer education.

The Coast Guard Consumers Kit contains consumer fact sheets, hotline brochures and boating safety pamphlets designed to inform consumers on how to exercise their rights when using Coast Guard services or purchasing products, such as recreational boats, that are regulated by the Coast Guard.

Interested parties may obtain the Consumers Kit free of charge by calling the Coast Guard's toll-free Boating Safety Hotline, 800-368-5847.

Sometimes this causes back pain, sometimes not. Instead of feeling back pain, you may experience tingling, numbness, hot spots, cold spots, or burning sensations. Electric shock sensations or burning in the legs, or strange sensations are often symptoms of a pinched nerve. Don't wait for it to get worse. Find out how chiropractic can help you. Call Today!

U-19 Select registers double loss, tie in Texas

The Bay Area Youth Soccer Under-19 State Division Soccer Team participated in the 8th annual Spindletop Tournament Apr. 4 and 5 in Beaumont, Tex.

The high point of the tournament was their 4-1 tie of a very good select team from the host club.

After a couple of missed off side calls by the local referees, Alcan/McDonald was trailing by 4-2 with three minutes to go.

The boys were fired up by the bad calls, and after a penalty shot made the score 3-2. The boys travel to the Slidell Invitational tournament this weekend. They leave for Slidell, La. Saturday at 8 a.m. and Saturday at 8 a.m. They play the Clinton Terrors at the Kingspoint Complex, and Sunday at 9:45 a.m. they play Slidell at Kingspoint.

"I hope the local fans can all come to Slidell to cheer these boys on," said coach Tom Denbald.

"The boys will be sent off with a complimentary breakfast from Burger King. We appreciate their support also," he added.

Deen named Coast Episcopal Star Student

Coast Episcopal High School has chosen Mary Parker Deen as Star Student, and she chooses Mrs. Susan Berni Dougher as Star Teacher, the teacher who has made the greatest contribution to her scholastic achievement.

Star Students are chosen on the basis of academic excellence, American College Test scores, and scholastic averages.

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) Program was created by the Mississippi Episcopal Council, which awards scholarships to the state's top three Star Students and their Star Teachers.

Deen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Deen of Pass Christian. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Mrs. Alpha Theta Phi Society of Distinguished American High School Students, and Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Deen is a past winner of the local Voice of Democracy Award, the Sewanee University of the South Book of Excellence Award, numerous academic awards, and was a member of the 1966 Presidential Classroom.

She is treasurer of the Senior class and a Halder Cheerleader. She attends Trinity Episcopal Church where she serves as an acolyte and is a member of the Episcopal Young Churchmen.

Deen plans to attend Millsaps College in Jackson and Major in psychology.

Mrs. Susan Dougher, who recently moved to Portland, Oregon, was Deen's third grade teacher at Coast Episcopal Elementary School in Bay St. Louis.

She is a graduate from Old Dominion University with a BS in Elementary Education and a BS in Early Childhood Education.

She received a scholarship to do her student teaching in Manchester, England. This is her first time to be selected as Star Teacher.

Choosing a career?

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, there are over 30,000 careers to pursue in today's job market. However, the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools located in Washington, DC, advises all potential students to research and investigate numerous occupational opportunities before making any career decision.

Also, the Association recommends that students take many of the following items into consideration.

Your Interests—Identify your interests and translate them into career possibilities. Do you enjoy helping people, working with your hands, creating, designing, being outdoors?

Salary—What salary can you expect to make in your chosen field? After two or three years of experience? Talk to employees and get the facts.

Advancement—Is your career open-ended? Where will it lead you? Will it offer you the opportunity to eventually start your own business?

Job Demand—Is there a need for your career specialty or are there more trained people than there are jobs available? Choose a career with a future, making sure you won't become obsolete in a few years.

Job Mobility—Where are the jobs in your career specialty? Are they in your locale, or would you be required to relocate or travel?

Working Conditions—Find out about your duties and work environment. Don't be unpleasantly surprised on the job.

Educational Requirements—Nearly every good job today requires specialized training beyond high school. Find out what kind of training is required for your career.

In addition:
—Check to see if the school is licensed by the State and see if the school is accredited. Accreditation means the school has passed a thorough examination of its business practices and teaching ability by a U.S. Department of Education-approved accrediting agency.

—Find out if the courses are up-to-date, well-rounded, and of high quality, and if they will prepare you to successfully enter your chosen career. Also, ask how long training will take, and about the cost of tuition, supplies, and any additional fees.

—Check out the school's facilities and equipment, and find out if the school has a laboratory or shop to duplicate a real work environment.

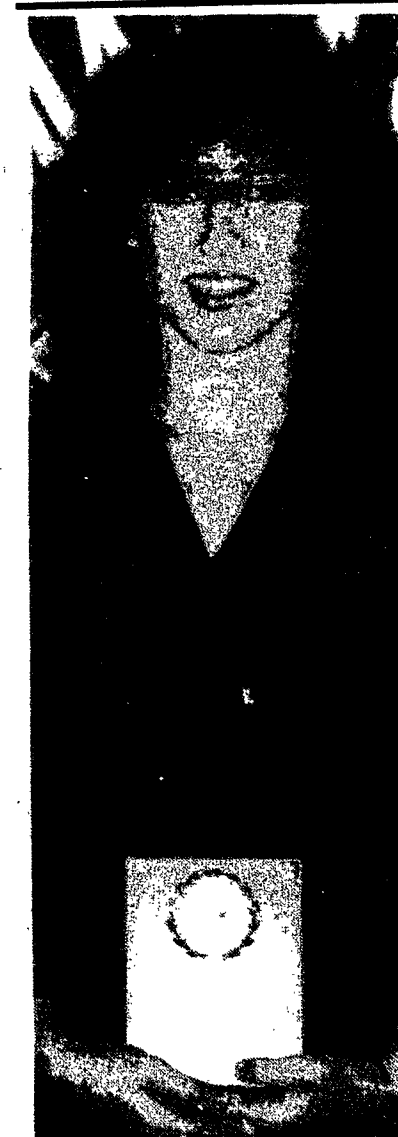

—Ask about job placement assistance. Does the school help find jobs for graduates? What types of jobs do the graduates get?

—Visit the school, preferably when it is in session. Talk to the students to see if they are satisfied with their training. If possible, talk to graduates and find out what they think of the school.

Information on careers and career schools is now available in a free Handbook of Accredited Private Trade and Technical Schools. To request a copy at no cost, write to NATIS Handbook, Dept. PKA, P.O. Box 10429, Rockville, Maryland 20850.

SOPHOMORE—Gretchen Zepernick, 1966 valedictorian at Coast Episcopal High in Pass Christian, has achieved sophomore status in her first semester at University of New Mexico based on college placement and advanced placement test scores. She is maintaining a 4.0 average in the university's General Honors Program, is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority Scholastic Committee, and is a Dean's List scholar. She is a biology-chemistry major and daughter of Mrs. Ruth H. Zepernick of Diamondhead.

Pass High Star Student, Teacher named

The Hancock County Economic Council has announced that Nathan E. Benard has been selected as the Star Student of Pass Christian High School.

Star Students are selected on the basis of academic excellence, American College Test scores, and scholastic averages are considered in designation of the school's Star Student.

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school seniors, explained C. D. Galey of Hattiesburg, chairman of MEC's Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Committee.

"Ten scholars are being designated as Star Students in our 144 participating schools in Mississippi.

From these Star students, the top 20 students in the state are selected, and the council awards scholarships to the state's top three Star students and their Star teachers."

Funds for these scholarships are provided by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian.

Each Star student is asked to designate a Star teacher, a teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement. Robert A. Lagarde was designated Star Teacher by Benard.

Both Star student and the Star teacher will receive certificates from the council in addition to being eligible for competition for scholarship awards.

Benard, 17, is a resident of 124 Cedar Avenue, Pass Christian, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benard.

He is a member of Gulfport Exchange Club "Youth of the Month," Beta Club, Seneca Youth Program Nominee from EGHS, Science Fair (1st Place), Student Council Representative, Student Council vice president, Student Council president, Junior Class president, Senior Class president, Superintendent's Honor Roll, Football Player of the Week, Quiz Bowl, Football Team, Baseball Team, Science Club, Science Club vice president, Science Club Planning Committee, French Club and Prom Committee.

Lagarde is a resident of 416 Carroll Avenue in Bay St. Louis and teaches chemistry and physics at Pass Christian High School.

He attended Millsaps College where he received a BS in chemistry, and Mississippi State University where he took a master's in education.

Safety alert

Moving tall TV carts can be dangerous

MISSISSIPPI STATE—School teachers and parents are being alerted to the dangers of allowing children to push or pull TV or audiovisual carts.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission reports four deaths and four serious injuries in schools involving the tip-over of tall TV or audiovisual carts. The carts are about 30 inches high. Seven of the eight carts were loaded with a TV set on the top shelf. One was loaded with a record player.

The CPSC said in most cases, a child was asked to move a television set in a room in which to 11, to move the cart to another room. The cart overturned when it, apparently hit a child's foot while being pulled or when the child stepped on the front of the cart for a ride.

Most often two children were moving the audiovisual cart, one child pulling from the front and the other child pushing from the back. The child in front was the one who was injured or killed.

"Most children jump at the opportunity to help the teacher with audiovisual equipment," said Norine Barnes, a child and family development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Parents should warn their children about moving heavy equipment such as audiovisual carts."

To avoid injuries and deaths from TV or audiovisual cart tip-over, the CPSC provided these safety rules:

Do not let children move a TV or audiovisual cart. Only adults should move them.

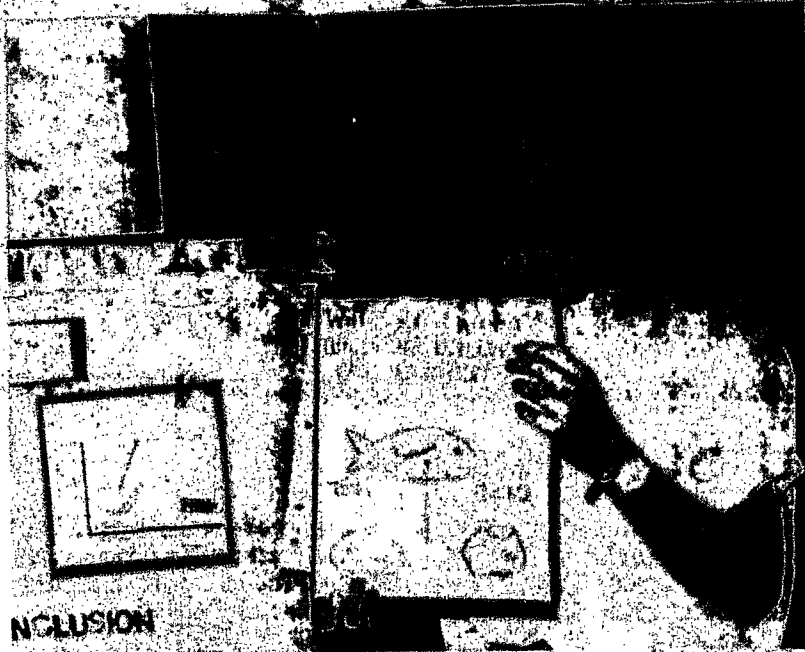

Do not allow anyone to step or ride on the TV or audiovisual cart because this can cause it to overturn.

Plan ahead when TV or other audiovisual equipment is needed so it can be moved by an adult before and after class.

WHY TAKE LESS AND PAY MORE?

I grit my teeth when you say, "Aren't all perms the same?" NO. Mine are better because I make an art of perms. A perm is a full-time yearly occasion for most. You have to live with your perm at least a quarter of a year. Doesn't it make sense to assure yourself of a lovelier three months by patronizing a professional?

I have many happy customers who say it does. Let me give your perm this supreme styling foundation soon.

John Dowden, a Bay Senior High student and Jeffrey Todd, who attends Mercy Cross High School, represented Coast Electric Power Association at the March 19-20 Youth Leadership Seminar, sponsored by the Electric Power Associations of Mississippi.

The seminar, held in Jackson, brought a select group of high school juniors from across the state together with electric cooperative leaders to develop greater understanding of cooperatives as viable businesses and explore the functions of electric power associations.

Dowden, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Masael Shyon of Bay St. Louis, is a member of the Deas Club, has represented the school in the Varsity Golf Bowl, and is a member of the Bay Senior High yearbook staff. He has received various awards including second place winner of the American Legion Oratorical contest; placed third in the State Science Fair for his engineering project; and placed second in the Deas Club State competition. John is actively pursuing a career as a Doctor of Psychiatry.

Career testing set on Coast

LONG BEACH—Gulf Coast residents will have an opportunity to evaluate career goals and map out future plans during special sessions scheduled for the University of Mississippi.

Career testing and counseling sessions are scheduled on that date from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach and at the USM-Jackson County campus in Gautier.

A career testing session also will be held May 1 from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Gulf Park campus.

The sessions are designed to allow individuals to determine their main interests and to map plans for developing those interests into careers. Through the career evaluation process, many people are able to find out if their vocational interests really can lead to careers.

"The test and the counseling sessions give a person an opportunity to do a self-evaluation and set planned directions for development," explained Dr. Charlotte Tullis, director of Career Development and Adult Services at the USM campus in Hattiesburg.

sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. "It is our pleasure to be able to offer these outstanding young men the opportunity to visit Washington on our behalf. The tour, now in its 39th year, provides students the chance to see our government in action and feel the excitement of Washington as the key political arena," he stated.

Youth Brief

OLE MISS INITIATE

Aimee Schmidt, daughter of Frank and Shirley Schmidt, and Laura Hillman, daughter of Kay Hillman, were initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta women's fraternity at the University of Mississippi Feb. 6.

Kappa Alpha Theta is the oldest Greek letter fraternity for women, having been established in 1870 at Asbury College, now DePaul University, in Greencastle, Ind.

Adolescent suicides may be four times number estimated

RESTON, Va.—This year 6,500 adolescents will commit suicide, and many of them may not want to, according to a report recently published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

"Even more astounding is that these numbers may be low for many suicides go unreported, are mislabeled, or fall under the category of one-car auto accident," reports Richard A. Dempsey in "The Trauma of Adolescent Suicide."

"Researchers tend to agree that the 'real' numbers of adolescent suicides could be as many as four times the number reported. Not 6,500 suicides this year, but perhaps more than 25,000.

Dempsey, professor, University of Connecticut, contends that many adults believe that youths have no worries.

"Too often older people fail to see this period as one of rapid change socially, emotionally, physically, and mentally," wrote Dempsey. "It is the most intense phase of development, bringing more changes than any other time of life."

Adolescents are faced with choices that are stressful, the author indicated. They include making educational and vocational choices, identifying their sex roles, determining standards of right and wrong, and establishing themselves outside the comparative safety of their families.

Such stress brings some youth to consider suicide as a way to resolve "unbearable conflict" or "to punish important people in their lives."

Dempsey raises the question of whether these adolescents truly want to end their lives or are only trying to call attention to their plight.

"Seventy percent of teens who attempt suicide do so between the hours of three in the afternoon and midnight, when they have a greater chance of being stopped or saved," Dempsey indicated.

While causes of suicide attempts are numerous, the report listed 10 foremost contributors: depression, loss of a parent through death or divorce, loss of a friend, alienation from the family, parental or school expectations for higher achievement, physiological and maturational growth changes, drug and/or alcohol dependence, peer group pressures and/or ostracism from a group, confusion over developing sex roles, and a lack of understanding of how one fits into a highly competitive and achievement-oriented society.

Dempsey wrote that many times before committing suicide adolescents give warning signs, which generally fall into three categories: Verbal clues, behavioral clues, and situational clues.

Youngsters may comment about how depressing life is or inquire about how to donate your body to science. They may give away prized possessions to friends or a summer job may have been lost.

The author encouraged schools to train new teachers about depression and suicide, develop crisis resource teams, have mental health classes, provide awareness training for parents, and create a peer assistance program of students.

"A teenager's preference for peer confidants places friends in an ideal position to help potential suicide victims," he stated.

Doubles

Two pizzas for one special price

Domino's Pizza Doubles is two pizzas for one special price. You can choose from two sizes of Domino's Pizza Doubles. Two 14", which is 24 slices, or two 10", which is 16 slices.

You can have two 10" 8 slice pizzas for $6.99 plus tax and 99¢ for each additional two pizza topping. Prices do not include sales tax.

The LARGE pizza Doubles is an exceptionally good buy. Two 14" pizzas are almost exactly twice as large as two 10" pizzas, so the LARGE Doubles gives you almost 100% more pizza for under 60% additional cost.

Mix & Match
Your two Doubles pizzas do not have to be identical. For example, if you order a pizza with two toppings, and the other (same size) pizza with four toppings, you will be charged the price of a three topping Doubles order.

Quality Ingredients
Our pizzas are custom made with only the freshest ingredients (never frozen) and 100% real cheese.

Full Portions
On a 10" pizza we use 20-22 slices of pepperoni. On a 14" pizza we use 39-41 slices of pepperoni, not skimpy portions like other stores.

Flavor
We use nine secret herbs and spices in our sauce to give your pizza a delicious, distinctive Domino's Pizza taste.

Hot Pizza
We use a crush proof corrugated insulated pizza box (not a bag) with each and every pizza. When Domino's Pizza delivers we use specially designed insulated pouches on each and every order.

Free Delivery
Your pizza from Domino's Pizza will be delivered to your door by our friendly professional drivers at no additional cost to you. For 26 years we have never charged for delivery.
